

Big changes in healthcare — will they change your financial life?

SPECIAL GUEST BIO: Laura L. Carstensen, Stanford Center on Longevity

Laura L. Carstensen is a professor of psychology at Stanford University where she is the Fairleigh S. Dickinson Jr. Professor in Public Policy and founding director of the Stanford Center on Longevity. Her research program includes theoretical and empirical study of motivational and emotional changes that occur with age and the influence such changes have on cognitive processing.

Laura is an elected member of the National Academy of Medicine and has served on the MacArthur Foundation's Research Network on an Aging Society. She has also served on the National Advisory Council on Aging to National Institute on Aging. Selected as a Guggenheim Fellow, her awards include the Kleemeier Award, The Richard Kalish Award for Innovative Research, the Distinguished Mentorship Award from the Gerontological Society of America and a Master Mentor Award from the American Psychological Association.

Laura is the author of A Long Bright Future: Happiness, Health, and Financial Security in an Age of Increased Longevity. She earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Rochester and a Ph.D. in clinical psychology from West Virginia University. She holds an honorary doctorate from the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium.

Laura L. Carstensen and the Stanford Center on Longevity are not affiliated with Bank of America Corporation.