Lenora: One of the things I absolutely worry about is taking care of my mother. She had gone a long time as an independent woman, and she refused to tell me she needed help. When I got home I could see it, that she really could not live without me.

So that changes your financial future because now we needed more space and we needed one floor, a single floor. It was an old house that needed repairs.

She's, you know, she's never been out of her home, she's comfortable there. I wanted to make her comfortable. So that costs quite a bit of money, too. I realized that I'm kind of indispensable and I had to have money for a visiting nurse or someone to look in on my mother, because we don't have much family here.

I think our investments will cover quite a bit of it. Even if there isn't insurance. I know there is a rider for nursing care, but even in spite of that, I would still like to have enough in our investments to cover that.
