What to consider at every stage of retirement

Age 50
to 59

Planning for the Future

- Age 50: Consider beginning catch-up contributions to IRAs and qualified retirement plans (beginning in 2024, the catch-up limit will be indexed for inflation with increments of $100).
- Contributions to your retirement accounts: Try to max out your employer's match in your 401(k).¹
- Update your beneficiaries: Review and update your beneficiaries. This can be done anytime and goes into effect immediately.
- Sign Trusted Contact Person form: Choose a person your advisor can call when they have questions or concerns about your whereabouts or health status.
- Understand retirement risks: Take measured steps against healthcare costs, longevity risk, sequence of return risk and inflation risk.
 - Understand the costs and need for long-term care: Ask your advisor about the Long-term care checklist.²
- Consider HSA contributions: Save money on many out-of-pocket medical expenses.
- Estimate costs in retirement: Consider all expenses; complete the Healthcare Costs Estimator and Retirement Income Planning worksheets from your advisor.
- Estimate retirement income sources: Take into account your investments, business, Social Security and pension/annuity income.
- Create a will and trust: Decide how you want your property to be distributed as you consider legacy planning and wealth transfer.
- Establish a living will/healthcare directive: State your wishes for end-of-life medical care in case you become unable to communicate your decisions.
- Designate a healthcare proxy: Designate someone you can trust to make medical decisions in the event you are unable to express your treatment preferences.
- Establish a Durable Power of Attorney: Designate someone to act on your behalf in the event of diminishing capacity.

Age 60
to 73

Saving, Medicare* and Required Distributions

- ❑ Age 60: Determine eligibility for increased catch-up contributions to qualified retirement plans (beginning in 2025), which will be the greater of $10,000 or 150% of the age 50 catch-up amount for those age 60, 61, 62 and 63 (indexed for inflation). These must be designated as Roth contributions for high-wage earners.
- ❑ Understand Medicare coverage: Medicare consists of Part A (Hospital Insurance), Part B (Doctors visits), Part C (Medicare Advantage Plans) and Part D (Prescription Drug Coverage). You need to apply separately for Parts C and D, and Part C requires enrollment in both Parts A and B.
- ❑ Age 65: You become eligible for Medicare. Initial enrollment period starts 3 months before the month you turn 65 and ends 3 months after.
- ❑ Annual Election period after 65: Between October 15th and December 7th, you must enroll in Medicare Part B (Doctors visits), C (Medicare advantage) and D (prescriptions) each year. Penalty enforced for life if you miss a year.
 - Your Medicare Part B monthly premium increases 10% for each 12-month period you were eligible for Medicare Part B, but did not enroll.
 - You may also incur a penalty or higher premiums for life if you don't sign up for Part D during the 7-month Initial Enrollment period.
- ❑ Age 70^{1/2}: Eligible IRA owners can make qualified charitable distributions paid directly to a qualified charity (up to $100,000 and a one time option for $50,000 to charities through various charitable split interest trusts).
- ❑ Age 73:³ You must begin taking required minimum distributions from IRAs, 401(k)s and 403(b)s.

Social Security* and Withdrawal Strategy

- ❑ Determine withdrawal rate: Decide on an appropriate withdrawal rate from your retirement plans.
- ❑ Review Social Security options: Consider the withdrawal rate for your retirement accounts in conjunction with a review of your Social Security options. You can file for benefits 3 months prior to age 62, or 4 months before you want your benefits to start.^{4,5,6}
 - Age 62: You may begin receiving reduced Social Security benefits on your own record, a spouse's record or an ex-spouse's record.
 - Full Retirement Age (FRA): The full benefit age is 66 for people born in 1943-1954, for people born between 1955-1959 FRA is 66 + 2 months per year after 1954 until 1960 and it is 67 for those born in 1960 or later.
 - Age 70: You have maximized your delayed retirement credits and should begin receiving benefits.

Regular Reviews

Regularly review your expenses and income needs, withdrawal strategy, beneficiaries, healthcare proxy, will and trust to ensure your plan meets your current needs.

* This information should be considered only as general information and should not be used to determine how or when to claim Social Security benefits or enroll in Medicare coverage. If you have questions regarding your particular situation, please contact your legal or tax advisor. Information is as of August 2023 and may change in the future. Congress has made changes to the law in the past and can do so at anytime. Additionally, the Social Security Administration (www.ssa.gov) and Medicare websites (www.medicare.gov) contain additional information and publications. The Medicare website allows you to search for and compare healthcare plans, Medigap policies, drug plans, hospitals, nursing homes, home health agencies and doctors in your area.

² Options include traditional long-term care insurance, hybrid life insurance with a long-term care benefit rider and permanent life insurance with a long-term care rider. Long-term care is most affordable in your 50s when you're healthy, not when your health declines.

⁴ Survivor and spousal benefits don't accrue over time. The amount you receive remains the same even if you wait past full retirement age.

⁵ Your checks will be reduced 25-35% if you begin claiming at 62 depending on your full retirement age.

⁶ Can claim Social Security at the age of 60 in the case of disability; includes stringent disability criteria, provide modest benefit levels and require return-to-work supports.
