MATERIAL CHANGES

On March 23, 2020, Merrill filed its last annual update for its Advice Access brochure (“Brochure”). Set forth below is a summary of the material changes to this Brochure since that date. This summary of material changes is designed to make clients aware of information that has changed since the Brochure’s last annual update and that may be important to them. The material changes summarized below were also incorporated within this Brochure. Capitalized terms that are not defined in this Brochure have the meanings provided in the Glossary.

MATERIAL CHANGES MADE AS PART OF THIS UPDATE

Disciplinary Event. We have added information regarding a disciplinary event related to the receipt of 12b-1 fees. On April 17, 2020, the SEC issued an administrative order in which it found that MLPF&S had willfully violated Section 206(2) of the Advisers Act. Specifically, the order found that from January 1, 2014 to May 31, 2018, MLPF&S failed to disclose the conflicts of interest related to (1) its receipt of 12b-1 fees and/or (2) its selection of mutual fund share classes that pay such fees. In determining to accept the offer of settlement, the SEC considered that MLPF&S self-reported to the SEC pursuant to the SEC’s Share Class Selection Disclosure Initiative and had completed a number of the undertakings in the order prior to issuing the order. In the order, MLPF&S accepted a censure, the imposition of a cease and desist order and a disgorgement of $297,394 and prejudgment interest of $27,982 with the payment of such amounts to be paid to affected investors. See the “Disciplinary Information” section.

ENHANCEMENTS MADE TO THE BROCHURE AS PART OF THIS UPDATE

This Brochure relates to the Merrill Lynch Advice Access program (the “Program”) offered by Merrill, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated (referred to in this Brochure as “Merrill”, “MLPF&S”, “we”, “our” or “us”). For purposes of this Brochure, “participant”, “their”, or “his or her” refers to the Plan participants and “Plan” refers to the participant-directed defined contribution plan maintained by the Plan Sponsor, or as applicable, the designee or other named fiduciaries of the Plan Sponsor (“Plan Sponsor”) utilizing Merrill’s record keeping platform and enumerated in the Advice Access Agreement. Employer refers to the employer of the participant.

Advice Access is an investment advisory program available to participant-directed defined contribution Plans that utilize Merrill for recordkeeping services.

All capitalized terms are defined in the body of this Brochure and/or in the Glossary, which can be found at the end of this Brochure.

ADVISORY BUSINESS

Merrill, an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Bank of America, is a global investment banking and financial services firm. Merrill offers a broad range of brokerage, investment advisory, retail and other services and is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) as a broker-dealer and has been registered as an investment adviser since 1978.

Investment advisory and brokerage services are separate and distinct and each is governed by different laws and separate contractual arrangements that we may have with you. Our relationship, legal duties and capacities to you under federal securities laws are subject to a number of important differences. It is important to understand the differences, particularly when determining which service or services to select.

ADVICE ACCESS

When providing services in this Program we acknowledge in the Advice Access Agreement our status as an investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (“Advisers Act”) and a fiduciary under section 3(21)(A)(ii) of ERISA with respect to the investment advice we provide to the Plan.

Summary Description of Services

Plan Sponsors that wish to make Advice Access available to Plan participants enter into an investment advisory agreement with us (“Advice Access Agreement”).

Advice Access will recommend an asset allocation and specific investments for the participant’s Plan account, a contribution rate in the Plan, a contribution rate outside the Plan (if needed), and a retirement age that targets a 70% or higher likelihood of generating annual retirement income to meet or exceed their Annual Retirement Income Goal. Advice Access considers participants current investments held within the Plan, salary, savings rate, and their likelihood of achieving a specified annual retirement income. Advice Access will also recommend whether contributions should be made in the form of pre-tax contributions, Roth after-tax contributions, or after-tax contributions, depending on Plan availability and based upon a participant’s current effective tax rate and their estimated effective tax rate in retirement. After reviewing the recommendations provided by Advice Access, the participant can either reject the recommendations or implement them using the following enrollment options:

- PersonalManager
- Portfolio Rebalancing
- One-Time Implementation

A more detailed description of the Program enrollment options is provided elsewhere in this Brochure, along with other material information about Merrill.

Participants may modify certain variables within the client profile page of Benefits OnLine or by contacting the Retirement & Benefits Contact Center. Representatives within the Contact Center can only modify the variables at the direction of the participant. These variables include, but are not limited to contribution rate, retirement age, additional accounts, desired retirement income, personal risk preferences, and other additional income and expenses. Upon modification Advice Access will provide the participant with an updated investment recommendation. Providing additional data points will further personalize the recommendations provided by Advice Access. It is the participant's responsibility to keep the information up to date.

When a participant enrolls in the program, Advice Access will only provide advice and recommendations on the participant's account record kept by Merrill and not any external assets or accounts.

Advice Access also provides a "Retirement Income Strategy" which is a recommended breakdown of a participant's retirement income (for example, 401(k) accounts, Social Security, pensions and additional retirement accounts) during retirement. The Retirement Income Strategy considers the optimal annual drawdown sequence of each source based on the relative tax efficiency, meaning it will make a recommendation on how much and when to withdraw funds from certain sources to maximize portfolio longevity and meet the "Achievable Retirement Income" proposed.

Before utilizing this Program, please review this Brochure carefully and log on to Benefits Online or contact the Merrill call center if you have any questions.

Investment Advisory Agreement

The scope of any investment advisory relationship we have with the Plan Sponsor is defined in the Advice Access Agreement signed by the Plan Sponsor with respect to the Program. Through Advice Access, Merrill acts as the Plan's investment adviser only for the Plan covered by Advice Access, and not for any other assets or accounts (including any other employee benefit Plans), unless otherwise separately agreed to by us in writing. Our advisory relationship with the participant begins when they enroll in Advice Access, which occurs when they accept the terms and conditions during enrollment. Preliminary discussions or recommendations before accepting the terms and conditions of Advice Access are not intended as investment advice and should not be relied upon as such.

IMPLEMENTATION OPTIONS

PersonalManager

PersonalManager is the discretionary managed account feature of Advice Access that takes into account the participant's personal information described above and will invest the participant's Plan account into the recommended asset allocation. Approximately every 90 days on the anniversary of the participant's day of birth, and approximately every 90 days thereafter Advice Access will review the participant's account for refreshed information. Upon review, PersonalManager will update the participant's investment recommendation (referred to as "Reallocation"). Simultaneous to the reallocation of a participant's assets PersonalManager will also rebalance the participant's account to adjust for investment gains and losses across the asset classes (referred to as "Rebalancing"). The participant may discontinue PersonalManager at any time.

PersonalManager as the Plan's Qualified Default Investment Alternative (QDIA)

A default Investment alternative is the investment chosen by the plan fiduciary into which a Plan participants' or employer contributions will be invested if the participant does not make an affirmative investment election. ERISA provides plan fiduciaries with certain protection from liability for assets invested in a "qualified default investment alternative" ("QDIA") on behalf of participants who have not made an affirmative investment election.

A Plan Sponsor can select PersonalManager as the Plan's default investment. As new contributions are received, participants will automatically be enrolled into PersonalManager and both their existing assets and future contributions will be invested according to the recommendations. Participants can affirmatively elect to discontinue PersonalManager at any time. Advice Access will use relevant Plan participant data, including current annual compensation and other indicative data that is supplied directly by the Plan Sponsor to implement personalized investment recommendations for the participant. If the Plan Sponsor fails to provide the necessary compensation and indicative data, the participant will not be enrolled in PersonalManager; instead, the participant's investments will be invested in a cash equivalent fund indefinitely until the data is received.

Separation from Service

If a participant is: (1) enrolled in PersonalManager, (2) subsequently separates from service from the employer, and (3) has an account balance greater than $25.00, the participant will need to contact us and update their personal profile information, current employment status, and annual income amount in order to continue to receive a personalized investment allocation through PersonalManager. If the participant does not provide us with updated employment and income information, Advice Access will no longer be able to provide the participant a personalized investment allocation. In such cases, Advice Access will continue to rebalance the participant's account on a quarterly basis to the last asset allocation that was recommended to the participant prior to their separation from service. Advice Access will continue to rebalance the participant's account for the four scheduled quarterly rebalances following their date of termination or until the participant updates their personal profile information. If the participant updates their profile information, PersonalManager will resume discretionary management of the participant's account by considering their entire profile. If the participant has not updated their information by the fifth quarterly rebalance they will no longer be enrolled in PersonalManager and Advice Access will reallocate the participant's account balance into a diversified age based portfolio chosen based only on their current age and expected retirement date. The portfolio will consist of a pre-determined asset allocation strategy that will be adjusted as the participant ages.

If a participant is: (1) enrolled in PersonalManager or Portfolio Rebalancing (discussed below), (2) subsequently separates from service from their employer, and (3) has an account balance less than $25.01, they will no longer be enrolled in Advice Access and their accounts will no longer be reallocated or rebalanced.

Portfolio Rebalancing

A non-discretionary enrollment option that allows participants to implement the specific asset allocation and investment recommendations provided by Advice Access with respect to their account. Future contributions will be allocated to the investments according to the investment recommendations, using the allocation percentages Advice Access recommends. Approximately every 90 days from the anniversary of a participant's day of birth and every 90 days thereafter, the investments in the participant's account will be rebalanced to the initial recommended allocation. There will be no periodic review of the participant's information, nor will there be a reallocation of the participant's assets into a different investment allocation if new data is supplied. It is the participant's responsibility to periodically revisit Advice Access and determine whether the last investment allocation recommended by Advice Access remains appropriate based upon their current information. Participants can discontinue Portfolio Rebalancing at any time or elect another implementation option. Neither Merrill nor the Financial Expert shall have any ongoing fiduciary or other responsibility for the asset allocations and investments after the initial recommendation has been provided by Advice Access.

Participants may also use Portfolio Rebalancing to implement asset allocation and investment selections they have constructed through the "Create Your Own Strategy" feature of Advice Access. These portfolios are not provided by Advice Access, but rather are developed by the participant. Participants may elect this option for ongoing periodic rebalancing of their investment selections. Neither Merrill nor the Financial Expert shall have any fiduciary or other responsibility for asset allocations and investments the participant selects that have not been provided by Advice Access.

If a Plan Sponsor adopting Advice Access chooses to discontinue the offering of another asset allocation or model portfolio option, the participants who do not discontinue the asset allocation or portfolio model option on their own volition after receiving advance notice of the elimination of the option will be treated as follows:

Any participant with a 100% investment allocation in any portfolio models for both existing funds and future Plan contributions will automatically be transferred out of the portfolio model into the underlying funds that make up said model. The participant will be automatically enrolled into Portfolio Rebalancing through the "Create Your Own Strategy" feature of Advice Access. Such participants' assets will be periodically rebalanced pursuant to Advice Access Portfolio Rebalancing. Unlike the previous portfolio models, participant allocation percentages among the funds will not be subject to modifications by the Plan Sponsor. As such, neither Merrill nor the Financial Expert shall have any fiduciary or other responsibility for the asset allocations and investments established through this process. Any participant with an investment allocation in the portfolio model for existing funds or future Plan contributions that is less than 100% will automatically be transferred out of the portfolio model into the underlying funds that make up the portfolio model, but they will not be automatically enrolled into the Portfolio Rebalancing option of Advice Access. As such, they will receive no further rebalancing unless they subsequently affirmatively elect to participate in Advice Access.

One-Time Implementation

A non-discretionary enrollment option that allows participants to implement the specific asset allocation and investment recommendations provided by Advice Access with respect to their account. Future contributions will also be allocated to the investments according to the investment recommendations, using the allocation percentages Advice Access recommends. However, under this option, the participant's account will neither be automatically reallocated or rebalanced. There will be no periodic review of the participant's information, nor will there be a reallocation of the participant's assets into a different investment allocation if new data is supplied. It is the participant's responsibility to periodically revisit Advice Access and determine whether the last investment allocation implemented by the participant remains appropriate based upon current information, and to rebalance the account.

Participants can also use the One-Time Implementation option to implement asset allocation and investment selections they have constructed through the "Create Your Own Strategy" feature of Advice Access. Neither Merrill nor the Financial Expert shall have any fiduciary or other responsibility for asset allocations and investments the participant selects that have not been provided by Advice Access.

Access Channels

Plan participants use any of the following channels to enroll in Advice Access:

Online: Plan participants may use Advice Access by providing relevant information, receiving the recommendations and implementing such recommendations on the Benefits OnLine website, www.benefits.ml.com.

Service Representatives: Plan participants also will have access to a Retirement & Benefits Contact Center Representative (“Service Representative”) through a Merrill call center. These Service Representatives are able to collect relevant information from the participant for input into Advice Access and will communicate the recommendations created by Advice Access to the participant. While the Service Representatives will explain the recommendations generated by Advice Access, they will not recommend changes to the asset allocation or provide specific investment recommendations regarding the participant’s Plan retirement assets.

Financial Expert

We have selected a Financial Expert (the “Financial Expert”) that is responsible for constructing strategic asset class models and fund specific portfolios using the investment options determined by each Plan Sponsor. The Financial Expert has not been, and will not be, involved in any other relationship with us that would compromise the Financial Expert’s independence.

We may provide the Financial Expert certain objective information required for the development of the portfolio models, such as fund returns, fact sheets, and other relevant materials. The Financial Expert may consider these materials and may also consider the materials of others in developing the portfolio models and recommendations. Ultimately, it is the Financial Expert who retains sole control and discretion for the development and maintenance of the portfolio models. Morningstar is the current Financial Expert utilized by Advice Access. We may replace the Financial Expert at our sole discretion and will provide notification to the Plan participants and Plan Sponsors.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Necessary Data

While the Advice Access program helps participants evaluate their goals, the appropriateness of the advice provided is dependent on the personal information we receive from you and your Plan Sponsor. While we strive to provide the most accurate and timely economic forecast and financial information, we depend on you to provide the most accurate assessment of your financial status and goals. We will collect relevant personal and financial data about you (and, if applicable, your spouse or partner) that may include your age, retirement income goal, state of residence, retirement account balance, projected or actual social security amount, any outstanding loans from your retirement Plan, balances of any other investment accounts intended for retirement, expected pensions, and balances in company stock. This information is collected in order to personalize the advice you receive.

In creating your strategy, the more information you provide to us, the more personalized the investment solution we are able to deliver. We collect information your Plan Sponsor is able to provide to us and ask you to provide any additional data that wasn’t available from your Plan Sponsor. Through our website, Benefit OnLine or over the phone, you will be presented with an initial strategy as a starting point. You can model many scenarios by changing your retirement age, desired retirement income, social security start age, and savings rate. We will update your retirement strategy in real time to reflect any change you make.

We also encourage you to provide additional retirement account information such as assets you hold outside your retirement Plan account or benefits for you or your spouse/partner in order to further personalize the recommendations. While, we do not provide advice or guidance on outside assets, we will take those into consideration when determining the investment strategy for your retirement Plan account assets.

The Financial Expert provides other data used by Advice Access to generate the advice, including but not limited to, marginal tax rates, life expectancies, simulated asset class returns, and inflation data.

Recommendations Made

The forecasted retirement income, retirement age, and likelihood of reaching retirement goals will include assumptions that the savings rate(s) and sources of savings may vary from the initial recommendations. However, the total savings percentage of annual salary per year is assumed to be unchanged. Total savings is the combination of 401(k) savings, taxable savings outside of the Plan and any additional savings that were entered by the participant such as IRA contributions. Factors that impact the expected contribution amounts include: 1) salary changes, 2) inflation, 3) changes to IRS 401(k) contribution limits, 4) participant age and catch up contribution eligibility.

Advice Access may recommend that a participant contribute to a taxable savings account outside of the Plan. The investment and savings recommendations made by Advice Access will not be implemented in this taxable savings account. It is important that the participant make the recommended annual contributions to such account and have it designated for retirement. If the participant does not plan to fund the taxable savings account according to the recommendations, they should update their profile with Advice Access to indicate that they will not make these contributions.

Federal tax laws may limit the contribution rates in the Plan of some participants who are defined as "Highly Compensated Employees," by the Internal Revenue Code. A majority of Plans utilizing Advice Access have implemented controls that will not allow Highly Compensated Employees to over contribute to the Plan. However, some Plans do not utilize these controls, which may cause Highly Compensated Employees to receive refunds of excess contributions. Participants defined as Highly Compensated Employees should adjust their contribution rate in the Plan to avoid such refunds.

Advice Access will provide each participant with a probability analysis demonstrating the likelihood that the participant will meet or exceed their specified Annual Retirement Income Goal with respect to their current investment and savings selection, in comparison to the investment selection and the asset allocation provided by Advice Access. (See section entitled Hypothetical Nature of Forecasts for more information about the hypothetical nature of probability analyses.)

Other Merrill Advisory Services

In addition to Advice Access, Merrill offers a wide variety of advisory services. These include, but are not limited to, the following: Merrill Lynch Investment Advisory Program, Merrill Lynch Defined Contribution Investment Consulting Services, Merrill Lynch Fiduciary Advisory Services Program, Merrill Lynch Institutional Investment Consulting Program, Merrill Guided Investing, Merrill Guided Investing with Advisor, Merrill Edge Advisory Account, and Merrill Lynch Strategic Portfolio Advisor® Service. We also offer impersonal investment advice (general advice not tailored to the specific needs of any individual) in the form of publications or research. More information about these programs and services is contained in the applicable Merrill brochure (or MLPF&S Form ADV, Part 2A) and is available upon request or through the SEC's website at http://www.adviserinfo.sec.gov/IAPD/Content/Search/iapd_Search.aspx. Special arrangements with certain clients to provide particular or unique services for clients of a specific Financial Advisor or branch office may also be established.

ASSETS UNDER MANAGEMENT

As of March 31, 2020, Merrill had assets under management of $823.23 billion, of which $247.64 billion was managed on a discretionary basis and $575.59 billion was managed on a non-discretionary basis. This amount does not include financial planning services.

FEES AND COMPENSATION

Merrill does not charge a fee for Advice Access.

We are responsible for paying the Financial Expert. The total compensation to be paid to the Financial Expert by Merrill for Advice Access and other services will not exceed 5% of the Financial Expert's total gross income on an annual basis. The fee paid will not be affected by investments made in accordance with any portfolio model in the service.

Apart from the services provided through Advice Access, Plan participants may also use other products or services available from or through us or our affiliates, and in such case we or our affiliate will earn additional compensation. Financial Advisors offering these services will receive compensation in connection with your use of these services. This creates a conflict of interest because we and our Financial Advisors have an incentive to recommend products and services based on the compensation received, rather than a client's need. Where there is a difference in fees and commissions for some products or services, and the remuneration and profitability to us and our Financial Advisors resulting from transactions on behalf of or management of certain accounts is greater than the remuneration and profitability resulting from other advisory accounts, products or services, this creates a conflict of interest due to the financial incentives created. (See section entitled Participation or Interest in Client Transactions for more information about the receipt of compensation for the sale of securities and other investment products.)

We address conflicts from compensation described in this section and throughout the Brochure in variety of ways, including the disclosure of conflicts in this Brochure. Moreover, our Financial Advisors are required to recommend investment advisory programs, investment products and securities that are suitable for each client based upon the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance and financial situation and needs. In addition, we have established a variety of restrictions, procedures and disclosures designed to address actual and potential conflicts of interest – both those arising between and among client accounts as well as between accounts and our business.

PREPAID FEES

We do not charge fees for Advice Access.

COMPENSATION FOR THE SALE OF SECURITIES

We and our employees, including our Financial Advisors, benefit from compensation paid to us, and may directly or indirectly receive a portion of any fees and other compensation paid by the Plan Sponsor or the Plan participant in the underlying Plan investments. We and our affiliates may also receive additional compensation as a result of changes to the participant's account holdings and implementation of Advice

Access's recommendations. However, it is the Financial Expert who retains sole control and discretion for the development and maintenance of the portfolio models.

USE OF UNAFFILIATED BROKERS

Advice Access is an investment advisory program designed to recommend to Plan participants an asset allocation and specific investments for the participant's Plan account. The investment advice is based on the menu of investment options available through their Plan. These investment options typically include various mutual funds. Plan participants may be able to purchase the same mutual funds for their non-Plan assets. However, they generally will not be able to purchase Plan investments through other brokers or financial institutions, unless permitted by the Plan.

SOURCES OF REVENUE

As a broker-dealer, Merrill offers a wide variety of securities and brokerage services. Our principal sources of income are derived from our business as a broker-dealer. 0% of our revenue is expected to be generated from Advice Access fees on an annual basis.

PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES AND SIDE-BY-SIDE MANAGEMENT

Neither Merrill nor our employees receive performance-based fees for the services provided in Advice Access.

TYPES OF CLIENTS

Advice Access is an investment advisory program available to participant-directed defined contribution plans that utilize Merrill for recordkeeping services.

METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Advice Access uses technology provided and maintained by the Financial Expert. This technology analyzes historic and current returns, volatility, cross-correlations and uses "Monte Carlo simulations," among other techniques, to develop individualized recommendations. The technology also uses historic pricing data for mutual funds, individual securities and broad asset categories, as well as current market data and information. All calculations and asset allocation, specific investment, contribution rate and retirement age recommendations are created by the Financial Expert's technology and are isolated from the Plan participant's interaction with us. Thus, we cannot change the recommendations or calculations generated by Advice Access.

INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

The Financial Expert's investment philosophy is driven by the investment principles that are promoted throughout their organization. The principles are intended to guide their thinking, behavior and decision making. These principles also reflect and align with the history and foundation of the Financial Expert and are described below.

Investors First / Personalized. The Financial Expert's primary objective is to help participants achieve a sustainable retirement income by furnishing the participant with a personalized strategy that includes:

- Estimate how much the participant will need to save in total to sustain a certain lifestyle through the duration of retirement
- Determine how much to set aside each pay period to achieve the participant's retirement goals, including the ideal contribution rate based on the participant's specific situation and goals

- Build a personalized investment portfolio that ensures the participant is taking on the right amount of investment risk based on his or her specific needs and financial situation
- Manage the participant's investment portfolio to ensure it still meets his/her needs and revise the portfolio as needs change (available through PersonalManager)
- Help the participant take advantage of the employer match if applicable
- Provide guidance on when the participant should retire based on their retirement objectives and the amount they have already saved for retirement

Independent Minded. The advice and recommendations the Financial Expert makes are based on their methodologies, models, analysis, and assessment/forecasts of the capital markets.

Long-term/Goals-Based. The Financial Expert recognizes that a prudent strategy must be built in relation to specific goals, including long-term retirement goals. Advice Access helps the participant define those goals and develop a strategy aimed at reaching them.

Valuation-Driven/Forward-Looking. Rather than relying only on historical data (which may not have any relevance to future conditions), the Financial Expert incorporates forward-looking estimates for assumptions about investment returns and performance behavior. The Financial Expert's recommended asset allocations, savings rates, spending rates, retirement age, projections of future wealth and income, reflect their forecast of the capital markets.

Fundamental/Research-Driven. The Financial Expert is a leading producer of independent, thought leadership on a variety of investment management and financial planning topics, all of which drive their methodologies, models, and advice.

Cost Minimization/Diversification Maximization. While no investment strategy can ensure a profit or protect against a loss, diversifying a participant's investments is a bedrock principle to seek the long-term safety of capital. The Financial Expert's proprietary approach diversifies the participant across asset classes, investment sectors, styles, and investment options.

Holistic. The Financial Expert takes a holistic total wealth approach in which they attempt to estimate the value and asset allocation of a person's human capital or nonfinancial assets based on the participant's age, gender, income, savings rate, and future Social Security estimate. The recommendation for the participant's financial capital helps bring the participant's total wealth close to an age-appropriate, diversified asset allocation.

FINANCIAL EXPERT'S GOVERNANCE

The Financial Expert has a variety of governance oversight structures. These include a Governance Committee, a Global Investment Policy Committee, and regional governance bodies, including their US Investment Policy Committee. The US Investment Policy Committee consists of multiple sub-committees, including an Advice Sub-Committee dedicated to oversee the Financial Expert's advice and managed accounts methodologies embedded in Advice Access. Members of the Investment Policy Committee may include officers, chief investment officers, managing directors, or managers of Morningstar Investment Management or its affiliates. The regional governance bodies include regional investment policy committees, asset allocation committees, investment selection committees and portfolio construction (peer review) committees. Global best practice working groups also exist with the goal of sharing methodologies and research across regions. These groups focus on specific investment areas such as valuation models driven by the Financial Expert's capital markets research and methodologies used for asset allocation, investment selection, portfolio construction for different investment strategies, and advice. Additionally, the Financial Expert's parent company maintains a compliance team that monitors the Financial Expert.

KEY DATA SOURCES

Advice Access updates and personalizes the advice for you based on three key data sources: 1) information provided by your employer, 2) information from external data sources obtained by the Financial Expert, and 3) information provided by you.

1. Information provided by your employer. Examples include:
 - Your income
 - Your current 401(k) saving rate
 - Applicable Plan provisions such as company match and/or profit sharing rules
 - Your current 401(k) account balance
 - Your age
 - Your gender
 - Your state of residence

2. Information from external data sources used by the Financial Expert. Examples include:
 - Social Security retirement benefits
 - Federal and state taxes
 - A salary and savings rate curve or schedule based on how typical salaries evolve

3. Information provided by you. Examples of information that influence the advice include:
 - Changes to your personal situation, such as the addition of a spouse or partner
 - Information on other financial assets /accounts and how they are invested
 - Financial expenditures such as a wedding, a second home or a child's college tuition
 - Other sources of income such as pensions, supplemental employment income or life insurance payments

KEY ASSUMPTIONS

Advice Access makes assumptions about certain pieces of information that have a significant impact on the strategy created for you. In particular, these assumptions relate to inflation rates, retirement income goals, federal/state/capital gains/other taxes and your risk capacity, social security amounts (if you are not yet retired), and salary growth.

Social Security Retirement Benefits

Advice Access can incorporate Social Security retirement benefits for you and if applicable, your spouse/partner, using an estimate based on your current salary or a number you input from your Social Security Administration statement. Social Security retirement benefits are inflated using a simulated cost-of-living allowance designed to replicate the actual Social Security Administration ("SSA") formulas and are applied at the maximum benefit age as defined by the SSA. Advice Access accounts for reduction in payments while working in retirement, increases in benefits for the spouse 50% rule and increased benefits for the surviving spouse 100% rule. The program assumes you complete all applications required to collect the maximum benefit. Advice Access also takes Social Security into consideration while analyzing income replacement. Advice Access defaults to the age at which you will receive full benefits from the SSA, but you can adjust the benefit amount and start age if desired, however, the start age must be between 62 and 70.

Salary Growth

To estimate future salary, Advice Access uses a salary growth curve based on academic research rather than assuming a single, fixed growth rate. This curve takes into account the fact that salaries tend to grow most rapidly for young employees, peak around age 51, and then slightly decline later in life.

Retirement Age

Advice Access assumes a default retirement age of 65. You have the option to change this to a different retirement age.

Estimated Tax

Advice Access estimates federal and state income, and capital gains taxes based on marginal tax rate calculations. Tax data is updated annually based on U.S. Internal Revenue Code (IRC) and similar state tax data. Advice Access uses income data for you, as well as for your spouse/partner, if applicable, to estimate federal and state tax exposure. Tax exposure is appropriately reduced for pretax deferrals, tax-deferred capital gains, and yield and distribution of Roth proceeds. Based on the information we know about you, we provide an estimate of tax exposure, but may not include all tax considerations. The recommendations provided by Advice Access are made without taking into consideration potential tax consequences and does not provide tax advice. Potential tax consequences may exist. We encourage you to consult with a tax professional about these and other tax consequences.

Inflation Assumptions

When projecting the growth of various income sources and expenses, the Financial Expert uses a variety of different inflation rates. These rates are reviewed and updated annually by their research team. Different inflation rates are used for different projections and major expenses. The Financial Expert believes that their multifaceted approach to calculating inflation results in more realistic and more accurate projections compared with using one set rate.

IRS Limitations and Application of Penalties

Advice Access incorporates all IRS contribution limits, eligibility requirements, and withdrawal penalties into the retirement strategies.

Brokerage Account

Some Plans allow participants to maintain a brokerage account within the Plan. If your Plan allows this option, you will be responsible for managing and monitoring those assets. Advice Access does not manage brokerage account assets; however, if you provide Advice Access with detailed information on the holdings within the brokerage account, the methodology will consider these holdings in developing an appropriate investment strategy for your other retirement Plan account assets. If you do not provide detailed information, our methodology will assume that the balance in the brokerage account is 45% stocks and 55% fixed income.

RISK OF LOSS AND STRATEGY RISK

You should remember that investments in securities involve market risk, risk of loss, and other risks, and will not always be profitable. We do not guarantee that the intended objectives of our recommendations will result in achieving your retirement income goal. We cannot guarantee that negative returns can or will be avoided in any of our recommendations. We do not represent or guarantee that our investment recommendations can or will predict future results, will successfully identify market highs or lows, or will result in a profit or protect clients from loss. An investment's future performance may differ substantially from its historical performance, which is no indication of future performance. A security's investment return and an investor's principal value will fluctuate so that, when redeemed, an investor's shares may be worth more or less than their original cost. We are unable to predict or forecast market fluctuations or other uncertainties that may affect the value of any investment.

The Advice Access investment strategy is intended to provide you with an investment portfolio that is diversified across various asset classes and appropriate based on your facts and circumstances. Asset allocation and diversification are investment strategies which spread assets across various investment types for long-term investing. However, as with all investment strategies, these strategies do not ensure a profit and do not guarantee against losses.

Capital market assumptions are forecasts which involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties, and other factors which may cause the actual results to differ materially and/or substantially from any future results, performance, or achievements expressed or implied by those projections for any reason. Past performance does not guarantee future results.

Income projections used in Advice Access are based on hypothetical performance data and do not represent actual or guaranteed results. Projections may vary over time and with each use of our service.

Hypothetical Nature of Forecasts

Advice Access uses a probabilistic approach to determine the likelihood that Plan participants may be able to achieve their stated goals and/or to identify a range of potential retirement income outcomes that could be realized. Plan participants should carefully review the explanation of the methodology used, including key assumptions and limitations, which is provided herein.

It is important to note that projections or other information shown in Advice Access regarding the likelihood of various investment outcomes are hypothetical in nature, do not reflect actual investment results and are not guarantees of future results. The projections or other information may vary with each use and over time.

Financial Expert's Advice and Investment Recommendations

There are several key investment and planning methodologies behind the personalized recommendations provided from the Financial Expert.

- Financial Expert's Lifetime Holistic Total Wealth Approach – Information from the recordkeeping system as well as additional information provided by the participant enables the Financial Expert to create a relatively complete picture of a participant's financial assets as well as their human capital. Human capital is a powerful but hidden nonfinancial asset that provides the participant with an ongoing paycheck, enables them to save for retirement, generates a future Social Security benefit, and in some cases, with a defined benefit pension. From a total wealth perspective, on a relative basis, most younger investors have a lot of human capital and relatively little financial capital. The investment-like properties of human capital are often viewed as bond-like in that they provide relatively steady cash flows. Human capital provides the investor with the capacity to take on risk by allowing financial assets saved for retirement to stay saved and grow over time. As one ages the relative composition of their total wealth evolves and at retirement, total wealth is often dominated by financial capital and the risk-taking capacity that human capital provided is diminished. The Financial Expert attempts to monitor the participant's total wealth, and as the composition of the participant's total wealth evolves, the Financial Expert automatically adjusts the recommended asset allocation.
- Diversified Asset Allocations – Complementary to the Financial Expert's total wealth approach, their team of investment professionals and asset allocation experts create diversified asset allocation targets that attempt to maximize expected return for a given level of risk. Additionally, the detailed intra-equity asset allocation and detailed intra-fixed income asset allocations that collectively form the total asset allocation are personalized based on the participant years-to-retirement. In general, looking beyond the total equity vs total fixed income split that typically slowly glides from being equity-centric to fixed income centric across the typical participant's lifetime, the detailed equity allocation and detail fixed income allocations are return-seeking for younger investors and risk-mitigating for those nearing retirement.

- Investment-Specific Portfolios – On an ongoing basis, the Financial Expert monitors the available investments in each participant's primary retirement Plan with the ultimate goal of building and updating the fund specific portfolio. The investment option evaluation and monitoring process includes:
 - Assigning the different investment options to peer groups
 - Analyzing the funds using a multi-factor model
 - Estimating the various risk exposures
 - Incorporating any changes in fund fees
 - Ranking potential substitute funds
 - Estimating the forward-looking performance of the funds
 - Analyzing any new funds that are added to the retirement Plan
 - Informing your company if we believe the investment options are inadequate

Based on the ongoing monitoring of the available investment options, using an advanced automated portfolio construction optimization system, the Financial Expert builds and updates a fund specific portfolio. The system helps ensure that the fund specific portfolio meets numerous quality controls established by the Financial Expert.

- Wealth and Income Projections – Not all financial calculators or Monte Carlo simulators are equal. In order to help participants Plan for the future, including how much to save, when to retire, how much to spend in retirement, etc., one must estimate how wealth accumulates and how quickly it will be depleted. The Financial Expert believes that it is important to model that: asset class returns don't follow a classic bell-shaped curve, the location of the market cycle impacts future returns, gender impacts life expectancy, the impact of federal and state taxes can be significant, it is important to account for required minimum withdraws, and that the sequencing of withdraws from different account types matter. The Financial Expert has gone to great lengths to accurately model the wide range of possible future outcomes, so that projects driving their advice are as accurate as possible and tailored to the participant's unique circumstances.

The Financial Expert works to keep each participant in an appropriate asset allocation and associated fund specific portfolio. This is done by periodically monitoring what the Financial Expert calls "total wealth" and by monitoring the Plan's investment options and updating the fund specific portfolio accordingly. The Financial Expert reviews and updates their building block asset allocation targets annually, while the fund specific implementation of those targets with the Plan's investment options are updated quarterly. If the Financial Expert finds that a Plan Sponsor's menu of investment options is inadequate to create diversified fund specific portfolios, it will notify the Plan Sponsor. Also, for certain investments the Financial Expert may require additional information on the investment in order to properly understand it and to use it within portfolios. The Plan Sponsor must rectify any Plan menu deficiencies within the timeframe established by the Financial Expert to continue to receive Advice Access. The Financial Expert will also update capital market assumptions periodically and will adjust asset class targets at the Plan level. Merrill reviews the changes to determine reasonability but does not make any changes to the adjustments.

EMPLOYER SECURITIES

Advice Access technology will recommend that any positions in Employer securities in a participant's account be sold, unless the Plan Sponsor or participant restricts the sale of all or a part of the Employer securities. Advice Access will consider positions in individual and Employer securities restricted by the Employer or participant for sale when making asset allocation and specific investment recommendations. Merrill and the Financial Expert do not assume any responsibility, fiduciary or otherwise, for Employer securities held by the participant that are restricted by the Plan Sponsor or the participant.

MATERIAL RISKS FOR PARTICULAR TYPES OF SECURITIES

The Financial Expert constructs portfolio models appropriate for the Plan and participants that will be used by the Advice Access technology. The portfolio models will be based on the menu of investment options selected by each Plan Sponsor. These investment options typically include various mutual funds, but may include Collective Investment Funds (CIFs), Money Market, and Stable Value funds. Information about the risks associated with each mutual fund is available in the relevant prospectus or other disclosure document for each mutual fund. Merrill does not recommend specific investments for the Plan's investment menu through Advice Access.

1. Mutual Funds

Mutual funds are sold by prospectus. To determine whether a particular investment is an appropriate investment for you, carefully consider the important information on the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. Please read the prospectus carefully before you invest.

Mutual funds charge various fees and expenses, which will reduce the actual returns of your investment.

2. Collective Investment Funds

A Collective Investment Fund, are not available for direct investment by individual shareholders. Unlike a mutual fund, an investor gains access to a collective investment fund through a retirement Plan, such as a 401(k) Plan. Additionally, regulation of mutual funds and Collective Investment Funds varies. For instance, the mutual fund industry is regulated by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and mutual funds are subject to the Investment Company Act and the rules adopted thereunder, which provide important protections to fund shareholders. For example, mutual funds are sold by prospectus, are subject to limitations on leverage and extensive regulatory reporting requirements, and are governed by independent boards of trustees.

In contrast, Collective Investment Funds are not regulated by the SEC or subject to the Investment Company Act; instead, their investment managers and the CIFs are subject to less stringent guidelines and are overseen by the U.S. Office of the Comptroller of the Currency or by a state banking authority.

3. Stable Value Funds

The objective of most stable value funds is to provide safety of principal and an investment return that is generally higher than a money market return, while providing participants the ability to withdraw their assets for ordinary transactions at book rather than market value. However, the ability to withdraw stable value assets at book value has limitations based on the insurance contracts that wrap the underlying assets. In addition, most stable value funds require a hold period before assets can be withdrawn from the fund by the Plan Sponsor at book value and may refuse to honor book value withdrawals after communications from a Plan Sponsor or Plan fiduciaries that it determines caused participants' withdrawals. Additionally, the Plan is often restricted from offering investment alternatives that are viewed as competitive with the stable value offering. Finally, stable value funds are subject to counterparty risk of the insurers that provide the fund's book value liquidity.

4. Money Market Funds

Money market funds invest in government and treasury securities ("Government Money Market Funds"), as well as money market funds that invest in corporate commercial paper ("Prime Money Market Funds").

A Government Money Market Fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share. However, there is no guaranty it will do so. The sponsors of these funds have no legal obligation to provide financial support to the fund, and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to these funds at any time.

A Prime Money Market Fund does not seek to maintain a stable per share net asset value, and the securities held by the fund are subject to the risk that issuers and/or counterparties will fail to make payments when due or default completely. You could lose money by investing in a Prime Money Market Fund. Because the share price of these funds will fluctuate, when you sell your shares they may be worth more or less than what you originally paid for them.

All money market funds may impose a fee upon the sale of your shares or may temporarily suspend your ability to sell shares if a fund's liquidity falls below required minimums because of market conditions or other factors. Neither Government Money Market Funds nor Prime Money Market Funds are insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency.

Money market funds are sold by prospectus. Please read the prospectus carefully before you invest. Your Designated Advisor can provide a copy of the prospectus.

DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

The following is a summary of certain adverse legal and disciplinary events and regulatory settlements that may be material to your decision of whether to retain us for your investment advisory needs. Certain disclosures below relate to disciplinary events that occurred with predecessor firms, Banc of America Investment Services, Inc. ("BAI") and Banc of America Securities LLC ("BAS"), which merged with MLPF&S in the 2009-2010 time period. You can find additional information regarding these settlements in Part 1 of Merrill Lynch's Form ADV at: http://www.adviserinfo.sec.gov/IAPD/Content/Search/iapd_Search.aspx.

On April 17, 2020, the SEC issued an administrative order in which it found that MLPF&S had willfully violated Section 206(2) of the Advisers Act. Specifically, the order found that from January 1, 2014 to May 31, 2018, it failed to disclose in its Form ADV or otherwise the conflicts of interest related to (1) its receipt of 12b-1 fees and/or (2) its selection of mutual fund share classes that pay such fees. During this period, MLPF&S received 12b-1 fees for advising clients to invest in or hold such mutual fund share classes. In determining to accept the offer of settlement, the SEC considered that MLPF&S self-reported to the SEC pursuant to the SEC's Share Class Selection Disclosure Initiative and had completed a number of the undertakings in the order prior to issuing the order. In the order, MLPF&S was censured and ordered to cease and desist from committing or causing any violations and any future violations of Section 206(2) of the Advisers Act. It was also ordered to make disgorgement payments of $297,394 and prejudgment interest payments of $27,982 to affected investors.

On August 20, 2018, the SEC announced that MLPF&S, without admitting or denying the findings, entered into a settlement related to willful violations of Sections 206(2) and 206(4) of the Advisers Act and Advisers Act Rule 206(4)-7. Specifically, the SEC's administrative order found: (1) a failure to disclose that the portfolio manager process employed in connection with a January 2013 termination recommendation was exposed to a conflict of interest (less than one-seventh (1/7) of 1% of total advisory accounts (approximately 1,500) were invested in the products subject to the termination recommendation); and (2) a failure to adopt and implement written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent violations of the Advisers Act. In determining the appropriate sanctions, the SEC considered MLPF&S's remedial acts promptly undertaken and cooperation afforded the SEC staff. MLPF&S consented to the imposition of a cease-and-desist order, a censure, and disgorgement and a financial penalty totaling approximately $8.8 million.

On June 16, 2014, MLPF&S, without admitting or denying the findings, entered into a FINRA settlement relating to its failure to have an adequate supervisory system to ensure that certain clients received sales charge waivers for purchases of certain mutual funds' Class A shares which affected certain retirement accounts and certain clients with a particular type of brokerage account. This settlement resulted from MLPF&S self-identifying certain of these issues. MLPF&S consented to the imposition of a censure and a fine of $8 million and agreed to provide additional reimbursement to the agreed upon impacted clients and has reimbursed all such impacted clients.

On June 21, 2012, MLPF&S, without admitting or denying the findings, entered into a FINRA settlement related to the following: (1) failure to have an adequate supervisory system around billing processes for certain investment advisory programs and, as a result, overcharging certain client accounts during the 2003-2011 time period (client accounts impacted were less than 5% of its total advisory accounts and the aggregate fee overcharge amount was less than 1/2 of 1% (approximately $32 million) of the total advisory fees billed during that period); (2) failure to send contemporaneous or periodic trade confirmations to certain client accounts for ten investment advisory programs; (3) having inaccurate or incomplete trade confirmations for certain mutual fund transactions by failing to state trade capacity (agent or a principal) on trade confirmations and account statements; (4) failure to deliver (directly or through a vendor) proxy materials to certain clients or to their designated investment advisers and failure to have an adequate supervisory system to detect this failure (clients impacted constituted less than 1% of its clients during the relevant period); and (5) failure to send margin risk disclosure statements and/or business continuity plans to certain clients upon the opening of their accounts (clients impacted were less than 1% of its clients during the relevant period). In determining the appropriate sanctions, FINRA considered MLPF&S' internal review through which it identified the violations, the remedial measures that it took to correct its systems and procedures, and its efforts to provide remediation to affected clients. MLPF&S consented to the imposition of a censure and a fine of $2.8 million. All overcharged accounts were reimbursed.

On October 4, 2011, MLPF&S entered into a consent agreement with FINRA regarding its alleged failure to have a supervisory system to ensure that all accounts in which an employee either had a financial interest or over which the employee had control were monitored and reviewed for potential misconduct. In addition, FINRA found that MLPF&S failed to establish, maintain and enforce written procedures to adequately supervise a registered representative who was subsequently found to have used a business account at the firm to implement a fraudulent scheme. Without admitting or denying the findings, MLPF&S consented to the entry of findings, a censure, and a fine of $1 million.

On June 6, 2009, BAI and BAS, two of our predecessor firms, were enjoined by the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York from violating, directly or indirectly, Section 15(c) of the Exchange Act. The injunction was the result of an SEC complaint alleging that BAI and BAS had violated Section 15(c) of the Exchange Act by allegedly misleading customers about the nature and risks associated with auction rate securities (“ARS”). Without admitting or denying the allegations, BAI and BAS entered into a consent decree and agreed to a series of undertakings designed to provide relief to certain individual investors. On January 10, 2012, MLPF&S agreed to settlements with the Illinois Securities Department (for alleged activities of BAS and BAI, its predecessors by merger) and the North Carolina Department of the Secretary of State, Securities Division (for ARS activities of MLPF&S) involving the marketing and sale of ARS. In both actions, it was alleged that the inappropriate marketing and sales of ARS occurred without adequately informing certain customers of the increased risks of illiquidity associated with ARS that constituted an occurrence of dishonest and unethical practices in the offer and sale of securities and failure to supervise. In the Illinois action, MLPF&S agreed, among other things, to repurchase at par certain illiquid ARS and to pay a total fine of $1,578,321 to the State of Illinois out of a total civil penalty of $50 million that was to be distributed among the other state regulator parties to an ARS-related consent order. With respect to the North Carolina action, MLPF&S agreed, among other things, to repurchase at par certain illiquid ARS held by certain of its clients and to pay a total fine of $3,193,552 to the North Carolina regulator representing its portion of a total civil penalty of $125 million that was to be distributed among the other state regulator parties to an ARS-related consent order.

Retail customers continue to be serviced through Merrill, while certain institutional clients are serviced through BofAS.

As a registered investment adviser, Merrill completes a Form ADV which it publicly files with the SEC (available at <http://www.adviserinfo.sec.gov/IAPD>).

For purposes of Form ADV Part 2, certain Merrill management persons are registered as registered representatives or associated persons of Merrill. In the future, certain Merrill personnel may be considered management persons and, as such, may be registered, or have applications pending to register, as registered representatives and associated persons of Merrill to the extent necessary or appropriate to perform their job responsibilities.

We address these conflicts through disclosure in this Brochure. Moreover, our Financial Advisors are required to recommend investment advisory programs, investment products and securities that are suitable for clients based upon their investment objectives, risk tolerance and financial situation and needs. In addition, we have established a variety of restrictions, procedures and disclosures designed to address actual and potential conflicts of interest – both those arising between and among client's accounts as well as between client accounts and our business.

RECEIPT OF COMPENSATION FROM INVESTMENT ADVISERS

We selected an independent Financial Expert to avoid conflicts of interest. The Financial Expert has not been, and will not be, involved in any other relationship with us that would compromise the Financial Expert's independence.

CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND INFORMATION WALLS

Merrill and its parent company, Bank of America, engage in a wide range of activities and businesses across a broad spectrum of clients. As a result, we recognize that actual, potential and perceived conflicts of interest develop in the normal course of operations in various parts of the Bank of America organization. To address these conflicts, information walls are in place which are designed to allow multiple businesses to engage with the same or related clients at the same time while mitigating any conflicts arising from such a situation. For example, information walls prevent the unauthorized disclosure of material nonpublic information and allow public side sales, trading and research activities to continue while other businesses within Bank of America possess material nonpublic information. Additionally, Bank of America maintains a Code of Conduct which provides guidelines for the business practices and personal conduct all associates and board members are expected to adopt and uphold.

Managing conflicts of interest is an integral part of Bank of America's risk management process. We believe that no organization can totally eliminate conflicts that exist explicitly or implicitly. Bank of America, including Merrill's investment advisory business, evaluates its business activities and the actual and possible conflicts that may emerge from its activities on an ongoing basis. To the extent that existing or new business activities raise an actual conflict of interest, or even the appearance of a conflict, we endeavor to provide you with full and clear disclosure or to take action to avoid or manage the conflict.

CODE OF ETHICS

We have adopted an Investment Adviser Code of Ethics (the "Code of Ethics") covering our personnel who are involved in the operation and offering of investment advisory services. The Code of Ethics is based on the principle that clients' interests come first, and it is intended to assist employees in meeting the high standards that we follow in conducting our business with integrity and professionalism. The Code of Ethics covers:

- Requirements relating to employees complying with all applicable securities and related laws and regulations;
- Reporting and/or clearance of employee personal trading;
- Prevention of misuse of material nonpublic information; and
- The obligation to report possible violations of the Code of Ethics to management or other appropriate personnel.

Covered personnel must certify to the receipt of the Code of Ethics. We will provide a copy of the Code of Ethics to any Plan Sponsor or Plan participant upon request.

We also have imposed policy restrictions on all personnel regarding transactions for their own accounts and accounts over which they have control or a beneficial interest. In addition, we have special policies requiring that certain personnel obtain specific approval of securities transactions and have implemented procedures for monitoring these transactions, as well as those of all our employees.

Privacy/Data Protection

We will not disclose to the Plan Sponsor, or any other person, any “personal information” obtained directly from any Plan participant. Personal information includes any information that can specifically identify an individual, such as name, address, social security number, etc. Personal information does not include information about any Plan participant that the Employer already knows or is entitled to know in connection with the administration of the Plan.

PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS

In the United States, Merrill acts as a broker (i.e., agent) for its corporate, institutional and private clients. Through its own arrangements and through its affiliate BofAS, it has access to a dealer market in the purchase and sale of corporate securities, primarily equity and debt securities traded on exchanges or in the over-the-counter markets. We also act as a broker and/or dealer in the purchase and sale of mutual funds, money market instruments, government securities, high-yield bonds, municipal securities, financial futures contracts and options. We operate the firm’s U.S. retail branch system, and also provide financing to clients, including margin lending and other extensions of credit as well as a wide variety of financial services, such as securities clearing, retirement services and custodial services. As a result of our affiliates’ involvement in multiple business activities, we recognize that actual, potential and perceived conflicts of interest develop in the normal course of operations in various parts of the Bank of America organization, including that our employees may have interests unrelated to the interests of Advice Access clients (see further discussion below). This discussion does not seek to identify all actual or potential conflicts. Information about certain additional conflicts is described throughout this Brochure and in many of the contracts and offering documents that govern the specific products and services we offer.

Investment options made available to participants through a Plan may [from time to time] include mutual funds or products from which Merrill or its affiliates receive fees or compensation in addition to the fees for this service described above. This additional revenue can be in the form of sub-accounting or processing fees (fees for transaction and account processing functions), service fees, and/or distribution fees. We only make available mutual funds, money market funds (each, a “fund”) that pay our wholly-owned subsidiary, Financial Data Services, LLC (“FDS”) for providing the required sub-accounting and transfer services, which include (1) aggregating and processing purchases, redemptions, and exchanges and (2) providing recordkeeping, processing, reporting and dividend reinvestment services (together, “sub-accounting/ transfer services”). Under agreements with each of these funds (or their respective principal underwriter or other agent), FDS provides daily sub-accounting/transfer services to the holders of these funds maintaining shares in an account as well as in other Merrill securities accounts and receives the agreed-upon sub-accounting/transfer services fee. This cost is either borne by the fund (like other fund expenses) as part of its operating costs or by its adviser, principal underwriter or other agent. Advice Access, from time to time, will recommend changes to Plan participants’ account holdings and any implementation of these recommendations will result in transactions in participants’ accounts. To the extent that such implementation involves products that result in payments to us or our affiliates we or our affiliates benefit. Similarly, investment options made available to participants may change. To the extent that we provide Plan Sponsors with information about existing or substitute investments, we may provide information regarding mutual funds and other investments, from which Merrill or our affiliates receive these additional forms of revenue. However, any decision to change or substitute Plan investment options will be made by each Plan Sponsor, rather than us or any of our affiliates.

As a broker-dealer effecting transactions as part of the program, we or an affiliate may act as agent or as principal for our own account, as permitted by applicable law. Similarly, we or an affiliate may, in transactions involving such clients’ securities, act as agent while also representing another client on the other side of the transaction. In addition, we or our affiliates may have a position in, or enter purchase or sale orders for, securities recommended to clients in the normal course of our business as a broker-dealer. We and/or our affiliates may profit from these positions or transactions in securities.

We, through our Financial Advisors, may suggest or recommend that Advice Access participants use Merrill securities accounts, execution and custody or other services, or such services of an affiliate in connection with their non-Plan assets. Similarly, Financial Advisors, who also handle participants’ securities accounts, may suggest or recommend that participants purchase our products or products of an affiliate. Where Merrill’s or our affiliate’s services are used or products are purchased by participants for their non-Plan assets, we and our affiliates will receive fees and compensation. Financial Advisors may, as permitted by applicable law, receive compensation (the amount of which varies) in connection with these products and services. Compensation received in connection with participants’ purchase or sale of stocks, bonds, mutual funds, other securities or insurance products through us or our affiliates may include commissions, spreads, markups and markdowns, and distribution or other fees. We also benefit from the possession or use of any free credit balances in participants’ accounts, subject to the restrictions imposed by Rule 15c3-3 under the Exchange Act.

With respect to participants’ non-Plan assets, we, acting in our broker-dealer capacity, may recommend that participants invest in a variety of limited partnerships, investment vehicles such as hedge funds and other investment funds, for which certain of our affiliates act as general partners. The investments of the limited partnerships and other entities may vary but include, without limitation, real estate, futures, hedge funds and other alternative investments.

INVESTMENTS IN SECURITIES BY MERRILL AND OUR PERSONNEL

Merrill provides a variety of advisory and brokerage services to others and these services may involve Merrill recommending a transaction in securities that are investment options selected by the Plan Sponsor. From time to time in the course of those duties, confidential information may be acquired that cannot be divulged or acted upon for advisory or other clients. Similarly, recommendations made in other services or programs may be contrary to the recommendations to participants using these services. For example, Merrill may recommend that an investment advisory client in another program buy shares of a particular mutual fund and at the same time replace those shares with shares of other investment options in a participant's account.

We and our affiliates have investment banking or other relationships with certain publicly traded companies; these relationships, from time to time, compel us to forego trading in the securities of these companies. In the course of investment banking and other activities, our affiliates acquire confidential or material nonpublic information that prevents us or our affiliates, for a period of time, from purchasing or selling particular securities for your account. We and our affiliates are not permitted to divulge or to act upon this information with respect to our advisory or brokerage activities.

We or one of our affiliates may have a position in or enter into "proprietary" transactions in securities purchased or sold for clients. We or our affiliates benefit from such securities positions or transactions.

We address these conflicts through disclosure in this Brochure.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Transactions in connection with Advice Access are effected by Merrill or an affiliate. The Plan Sponsor has authorized us as agent to use our (or an affiliate's) own execution services to purchase, exchange and redeem fund shares and other investment options available under the Plan and to take any other necessary action relating to transactions in Plan participant accounts, including the completion and settlement of transactions.

Mutual fund orders may be combined with other mutual fund purchases and sales across our platform for purposes of submitting consolidated purchase or redemption requests to the relevant transfer agent for each fund. We purchase and redeem all fund shares for the program account at net asset value without the imposition of any front-end or contingent deferred sales charges.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

ONGOING MONITORING OF PORTFOLIO MODELS

The Financial Expert works to keep the participants' strategic targets on track by monitoring the portfolio allocations for manager style drift. The Financial Expert will review the asset-level portfolio models annually and the underlying investment allocations quarterly. The Plan Sponsor must approve and implement any recommended changes within the time-frame established by the Financial Expert to continue to receive Advice Access. The Financial Expert will also update capital market assumptions periodically and will adjust asset class targets at the Plan level. Merrill reviews the changes to determine reasonability but does not make any changes to the adjustments.

Appropriate testing occurs to ensure the accuracy of the model code implemented in production for each application environment. Model software is subject to documented change control procedures, so that developers and users do not have the ability to change code without appropriate review, audit trails and validation, where required. A documented log of all model changes is maintained, so that the cumulative effect of incremental changes can be observed and appropriately controlled. Model change logs include changes to the choice / version / configuration of models in production systems. Operational procedures are developed to ensure the production implementation of the model is appropriate, well controlled and produces accurate model results. User access to relevant systems is reviewed periodically in accordance with Merrill policy to ensure users do not have entitlements incompatible with their job responsibilities.

A set of criteria is used by the Financial Expert to evaluate the Plan's investments used in the portfolios on an ongoing basis. The criteria are applied to each of these investments quarterly. If this process shows that investments have drifted in investment style, then the Financial Expert will adjust the investment allocations appropriately. If the Financial Expert determines that the investment no longer meets the objectives of one or more of the portfolios, the Financial Expert will notify Merrill to request an appropriate replacement investment from the Plan Sponsor. The Plan Sponsor must implement suggested changes to the investment menu to continue to receive Advice Access. As noted above, the Plan Sponsor will determine and be responsible for the appropriateness of the investments available under the Plan.

CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

A. OTHER COMPENSATION

1. RELATIONSHIP WITH ASSET MANAGERS

Third Party Firm Business Relationships

From time to time, Merrill enters into distribution agreements with asset managers or fund managers (“Third Party Firms”) pursuant to which Merrill distributes certain products and services to clients enrolled in the Program. Due to these relationships, the management and employees of these entities have a broader level of access and exposure to Merrill, our management, our Designated Advisors and other personnel. In addition, they have the opportunity for increased exposure at marketing events or in Designated Advisor and client materials. Such access and exposure is not available to other asset managers and enhances the ability of our Affiliates to distribute their funds and other investment products through us.

It is possible that the presence of these distribution arrangements and relationships will cause us and our Affiliates to forego opportunities to negotiate more favorable financial terms for client investments in these funds. We address the conflicts of interest in the following ways. We disclose the nature of our relationship in general with Third Party Firms. We determine the compensation paid to our Designated Advisors on the same basis for all Program assets without regard to the amount of compensation we or our Affiliates receive. Designated Advisors do not have an incentive to recommend certain funds over others because they do not receive additional compensation as a result of these types of arrangements or compensation.

Additionally, we and our Affiliates select funds that are offered through the Program based on qualitative and quantitative evaluation of such factors as performance, risk management policies and procedures and on the consistency of the execution of their strategy. We have adopted various policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent the receipt of such compensation and other business arrangements from affecting the nature of the advice we and our Designated Advisors provide, although such policies and procedures do not eliminate such conflicts of interest.

Third Party Firm Reimbursement for Training Events

Certain Third Party Firms periodically participate in Merrill-hosted or Affiliate-hosted national internal training and education conferences for Advisors and other personnel as well as for conferences that Merrill or an Affiliate hosts for clients (“National Training Events”). There is no requirement that Third Party Firms provide any such support or payments in order for us to make available their investment products to our clients. Third Party Firms electing to participate in a particular National Training Event reimburse us for the total cost of the National Training event on a prorata basis. The amount of reimbursement from Third Party Firms varies depending on, among other things, the number of events in which a Third Party Firm participates. For 2019, when there were approximately 14 National Training Events covering a variety of investment solutions topics, over 100 Third Party Firms reimbursed us an aggregate amount of approximately $15 million.

In addition, Third Party Firms periodically organize training programs that provide our Advisors and certain personnel with information on their platform of products and services with the opportunity to interact with a firm’s management and investment personnel. These meetings may occur at a location determined by the Third Party Firm or at our local branch offices. Certain Third Party Firms also may help to support client and prospect seminars, trade shows and booth events. Third Party Firms hosting or supporting these meetings provide reimbursement payments to offset the costs of these training meetings and events, which, in certain circumstances, includes meals, travel and accommodations. In 2019, the aggregate amount of the reimbursement payments made by Third Party Firms relating to over 1,960 training programs and events was approximately $12.5 million. We have implemented policies and procedures that place certain restrictions on these types of events and training programs and have supervisory practices in place to monitor compliance with these policies and procedures.

CUSTODY

Plan assets for which Merrill serves as record-keeper generally are custodied with BANA as Trustee and held with Merrill; please refer to the applicable documentation for information regarding Merrill's responsibilities as a custodian. However, Plan Sponsors can also enter into separate custody agreements to hold Plan participant funds and securities with other qualified custodians that are not affiliated with Merrill. Any such separate agreement with an unaffiliated custodian may contain authorizations for transferring assets held with that custodian that are broader than those granted to us in agreements in connection with the Advice Access services, and the unaffiliated custodian's monitoring, if any, of assets held with it is governed by that separate agreement. It is important to note that our rights and authority to transfer Plan assets held with an unaffiliated custodian are limited to those set forth in agreements in connection with the Advice Access services, regardless of any separate agreements or arrangements a Plan Sponsor or Plan participant may have or enter into with any such custodian. We disclaim any broader rights that may be contained in that separate agreement.

In our capacity as record-keeper and, as holder of assets (as applicable), Merrill provides Plan participants with written participant quarterly benefit statements. Plan participants should review their statements carefully. To the extent you receive account statements from other qualified custodians, please compare the account statements you receive from the qualified custodian with those you receive from us.

INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Plan participants may use the discretionary investment management feature of Advice Access, PersonalManager, to implement the specific asset allocation and investment recommendations provided by Advice Access with respect to their Plan accounts.

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Merrill does not accept authority to vote client securities held in the participant's Plan accounts enrolled in Advice Access. Depending on the terms of the Plan Sponsor's Plan document and its related trust, either the Plan fiduciary may vote proxies relating to securities in the participant's Plan accounts or the proxies may be passed through to the Plan participant to vote the proxies. Merrill does not provide advice with respect to a particular proxy solicitation.

Merrill will not render any advice or take any action with respect to securities or other property currently or formerly held in Plan accounts that become the subject of any legal proceedings, including bankruptcies and class actions.
