HOST BIO: Savita Subramanian

is head of U.S. Equity & Quantitative Strategy and head of ESG Research for BofA Global Research. She is responsible for recommending U.S. sector allocations for equities and determining forecasts for the S&P 500 and other major U.S. indices, as well as developing and marketing the firm’s quantitative equity strategy to institutional and individual clients. She also leads BofA Global Research’s environmental, social and governance (ESG) efforts.

Savita has been with Bank of America since 2001 and has been a ranked analyst in the Institutional Investor survey for the past nine years. She was previously an analyst at Scudder Kemper Investments in New York and San Francisco.

She frequently appears in television and print journalism and is a regular guest speaker at financial conferences. Savita is on the board of the UCLA Mathematics & Finance program, on the membership committee of Q Group, and is a member of the Chicago Quantitative Alliance, the Society of Quantitative Analysts and the Women of Wall Street.

Savita received a bachelor’s degree with a double major in mathematics and philosophy with honors from the University of California, Berkeley, and holds an MBA with a concentration in finance from Columbia University. She remains actively involved in the Columbia Business School alumni organization.