

Merrill Perspectives Podcast

HOST BIO: Joon-Ho Lee

is a Director in Equity Research at BofA Global Research and is coordinator of Electric Vehicle (EV) Battery Thematic Research for the Asia-Pacific region as well as a sector leader for Asia-Pacific Chemical & Refining on the Asia Energy Research team

In his role, he coordinates on EV batteries, battery components and lightweight materials and thematic research with the corresponding global research teams. In addition, he covers Asia-Pacific chemicals and refining stocks in Korea, Malaysia, Greater China and Japan (oil refining).

Joon-Ho and his team ranked among the top three in the All Asia Institutional Investor Survey (oil & gas) from 2011 to 2017, and he ranked No. 2 in the Wall Street Journal's Asia's Best Analysts (chemicals) survey in 2012. Previously, he worked at Goldman Sachs as a member of the Pan-Asia Energy & Chemicals research team for three years. Prior to that, he served as an intelligence officer in the Republic of Korea Navy.

Joon-Ho received his Masters in Finance from the London Business School and his bachelor of arts in Economics from the University of Michigan. He is currently based in Hong Kong.